

HEATHER SCHAEFER

Branding You Big, LLC | Brand Strategist

With over three decades of experience in graphic design and advertising, ranging from corporate to agency to freelancing, she has built big brands for hundreds of business owners. Her passion to help women feel better about themselves led her to one of the most competitive industries in the United States: direct sales.

But then a storm came. The company she was representing closed. It felt like she was thrown up against a rock by a huge, hard wave. Once she came up for air, she made a resolute decision: she would build her brand and not ride on someone else's. She had found the compass she needed to direct her route so that business owners could find her.

Since then, she has been building big brands for driven women entrepreneurs, as well as sharing her 7-FIGURE BRAND METHOD with female founders focused on multiplying their income and their impact on stages and on podcasts. She is now directing big brands for her clients so they have a clear path for their brand and are able to create a bigger impact.
